Industry: Accounting & Bookkeeping

Press Release Summary: When running a business, it's expensive to hire a CPA for your accounting and bookkeeping needs, and yet just as unrealistic to think that you can maintain your books and run your business on your own. Enter Blazej Accounting. With Blazej's financial services, your business can finally grow to its full potential.

Press Release Body: Too often business owners lack the organizational skills needed to maintain their records and keep track of their expenses. If you're the kind of business owner who tosses all of your documents into a box and is left scrambling at tax time trying to get your records ready, Blazej Accounting is the answer to all of your financial headaches. Blazej Accounting will prepare and manage all of your financial statements and records, familiarizing you with your profits and losses so that you are truly able to grow your business.

Cheryl Blazej started Blazej Accounting & Bookkeeping to help small and medium sized businesses better their financial standing and improve their returns. Blazej received her Bachelor of Business Administration from the National University in Irvine, California in 1989 and has worked in various financial analyst positions at major firms, including Unisys Corporation and UPS in the International Strategic Cost department. All of Blazej's staff has undergrad degrees, and there are also several CPAs. Blazej Accounting has consulted with over 75 companies and is currently outsourcing for over 50 firms. Collectively, their staff has over 100 years of accounting experience.

If you've fallen months behind and don't have enough time to run your business and maintain your books, Blazej Accounting can help. Blazej will teach you new ways to stay organized, reduce your workload and eliminate the stress of maintaining your books. When your books are organized, you are in a stronger position for rapid growth, which is the point after all.

Best of all, you'll no longer be forced to go to major income tax chains at tax time. By outsourcing on a contract basis, you can keep costs down, shifting your focus to building your business and customer base. In fact, Blazej Accounting is 40 percent less expensive than the average CPA rate. Not only are Blazej's services more economical, but they are also more flexible. Blazej can work with you on-site or on a virtual basis, allowing you to manage your finances without ever having to leave the office. No more worries about updating on a regular basis with Blazej's disciplined, regular account management and constant human input. They can even refer you to a CPA.
